Project: Lake Eva Park, Haines City, FL

March 2009

Poligon's in-house custom capabilities have made yet another satisfied customer in the state of Florida. Lake Eva Park has been expanded and remodeled to better serve the ever-growing population of Haines City, Florida. Eighteen coordinating and custom designed pavilions and a matching entrance sign have been installed in the park.

Project Brief:

The City of Haines City approached us through Rep Services with an opportunity to match a design program they already had conceptualized. We looked over the designs, quoted them, and were able to match what they wanted. Rep Services was preferred in Lake Eva, and they won the bid with Poligon in mind for the job.

Design Solution

The Lake Eva Park Pavilions are made up of integrated signage, hip roof shelters and gable roof shelters with corbels attached to the roof and columns. The largest shelter includes a clerestory feature, and can accommodate many picnic tables. Most of the pavilions are located adjacent to a water feature, such as a pool or a lake, and provide a cool gathering place on those scorching hot summer Florida days. Each of the pavilions coordinates with one another, creating both a functional and pleasing aesthetic. Poligon was able to custom design, engineer, and manufacture the entire project both under budget and on schedule.
